Feds seize utilities firm

BY ED LEPOMA

In an unprecedented ruling, a federal judge in Louisiana has placed all operations of water and sewer systems owned by Johnson Properties under federal control.

The Louisiana-based firm provides water to Pass Christian Isles in nearby Harrison County, to the White Cypress Subdivision, parts of Clermont Harbor and water and sewer services to Jourdan River Shores in Hancock County.

The ruling by U.S. District Court Judge Tucker Melancon in Lafayette, La., came after five days of testimony after the U.S. Environmental Agency took Johnson Properties to court for repeated violations of the federal Clean Water Act.

Melancon said, "I am appalled by what I have seen and heard in this courtroom." He said the operating conditions at most Johnson Properties plants "resemble more closely those of a third-world country..."

Under Melancon's ruling, all Johnson companies in six states were placed under the control of a court-appointed attorney. The attorney will answer directly to the judge and the EPA.

And, the judge also directed owner Glenn Johnson and his two sons, Darren Kelly Johnson and Michael Johnson, to sever all direct contact with the companies and its employees, and to work directly with the overseeing attorney in whatever ways may be necessary. None of the Johnsons could be reached Wednesday for comment.

Frances Lynch, an attorney with the office of Southern District Public Service Commissioner George Byars in Louisiana, said customer service in the affected areas should continue without interruption.

Favre honored

BY ED LEPOMA

The dismal, cloudy sky was in stark contrast to the beaming faces of city and county officials as they gathered Wednesday to dedicate the new Kiln Post Office in honor of longtime Kiln Postmaster Ray J. Favre.

The crowd began gathering in front of the new red brick facility off Hwy. 603 before 10 a.m., and the mood was festive and upbeat.

Billie Lyons, president of the North Hancock County Business and Professional Association, served as master of ceremonies and welcomed the crowd.

She said she remembered Favre when he operated a post office "from a little cubby hole" in a grocery store in the Kiln. She apologized that Favre's widow, Alisha, couldn't attend the ceremonies, reporting she was hospitalized with pneumonia. But, son Eddie Favre and daughter Nancy Smith were in attendance.

U.S. Congressman Gene Taylor gave the keynote speech, and said one of the highlights of being a congressman is deciding when and where to honor people.

He admitted to a faux pas when he first suggested naming the new post office after Green Bay Packers quarterback Brett Favre. Taylor said he heard from a horde of constituents, who said the new post office should honor Ray Favre instead.

Taylor said, "Ray Favre dedicated his life to serving the people of Hancock County. He was an earnest man, who spent all his life helping others."

Taylor presented to the family the resolution passed in Congress that authorizes the post office to be named in honor of Favre, the bronzed plaque that will be displayed outside, and an American flag that has flown over the U.S. capitol building, which will now fly over the Kiln.

Later, a portrait of Favre was undraped, and Lyons said it will hang on the wall of the post office. The portrait was painted by Tim Shaw, a local art instructor.

David Kincaid, manager of postal operations for South Mississippi, recalled how Favre began his service with the post office in 1940, operating out of a small spot in a grocery store "where there was standing room only."

The post office then moved to a larger supermarket in the Kiln, and Favre retired from there in 1974 after 34 years of service, he said. (Favre died in 1996)

Kincaid said the new, modern postal facility in Kiln was a model for others that will be constructed in the southern district, and he was very pleased with the facility, and the caliber of people who are working in Kiln.

The ceremonies began with an invocation by the Rev. Henry McInerney of Annunciation Church. Janet Penton sang the national anthem, while the Hancock High School ROTC squad raised the colors. The benediction was delivered by the Rev. Stan Proctor, pastor of the Shifalo Baptist Church.

Fire investigation

Deputy State Fire Marshal David Dry, right, and Waveland fireman Clay Necaise were busy Monday searching through the rubble of a house fire at 511 Saint Anthony Street in Waveland which claimed the life of its 72-year-old resident last Saturday. Frances Virginia "Ginger" Horn died of smoke inhalation according to Hancock County Coroner Norma Stiglet. Hancock County Fire Marshal Richard Pate said the fire has been ruled accidental and apparently started on a mattress in the back bedroom. A family member said Mrs. Horn was a heavy smoker. # Controversy surrounds Longfellow studio plans

BY ED LEPOMA

Controversy continues to swirl around a proposal to build a dance studio and home on Longfellow Drive in Hancock County.

And, little was settled after a 50-minute confrontation, between the proposed developer and an opposing adjacent property owner before the Board of Supervisors last Thursday.

At stake is a plan by Kim Collier Mangerchine, who got County Planning Commission approval last November for a "special exception" to the county's comprehensive zoning ordinance to build a dance studio, then a home on 4.25 acres off Longfellow.

Adjacent property owner John Wilkson unsuccessfully argued that the tract of land was largely wetlands and would be expensive to build on, since sewerage and water lines were not yet in the vicinity. He also argued that there was plenty of other commercial property available on Hwys. 603 and 90,

Card of Thanks

A Very Special Thank You

As most of you know, we lost our home to a fire ignited by lightning March 12.

It has been a very frightening experience to say the least. We have sat down to write "thank you's" at least 20 times and just felt like we could not find adequate enough words to say how we feel.

It is through tragedy sometimes that you realize truly the important things in life — like health, family and friends!

Ah, friends! God has blessed us with far more than we deserve, and we are so grateful. We'd like to thank the wonderful firefighters from Leetown, Fenton, Kiln and Post 58 who answered the call for help, the two Coast Electric employees who thought enough to report the smoke, and the wonderful friends who called and stopped by and cooked and prayed.

We could never repay any of you for what you've done, but are so thankful that we live in a community where people are truly good. We love you all, and God bless you.

Steve and Beth Seymour

County schools receive Technology funding

Special to the Echo

The Hancock County District recently received a $495,500 dollar technology grant that was made possible through the federal e-rate program.

The district applied for the funds several months ago, and will utilize the dollars for additional wiring of exiting elementary school facilities and telecommunications equipment purchases.

At the high school facility, students will continue to engage in activities on the Study-Pro laptop while the existing wiring framework is improved with these e-rate funds.

E-rate, part of the Telecommunications Act of 1996, helps schools and libraries access the vast resources on the Internet. Awards for funding are based on the proposal's extent and the district's percentage of students on free/reduced lunch.

In addition, the district was recently funded $94,000 dollars through the Technology Literacy Challenge Fund Grant application submitted in February 1999.

The funds will be used to connect every classroom at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlington to the information superhighway. Each classroom and the joint-use library facility will be equipped with three computers so that necessary software and on-line resources will be available at the fingertips of students, faculty, and library patrons.

Superintendent of Education, Terry Randolph, stated, "We're excited about both the grant and e-rate funds that the Hancock County School District is receiving. These dollars will help ensure the facilities are ready for future technology growth. Most importantly, the district will utilize the funds to continue to provide excellence in education for the 21st century."

Pass confrontation going to court

BY ED LEPOMA

A confrontation between a Pass Christian alderman and a policeman is going to court.

Records show that Sgt. Perry Ladner filed an obstruction of justice charge March 14 against Ward 3 Alderman Michael Antoine after arresting Thyrone P. Williams on a complaint that loud music was coming from a residence where he was visiting.

Williams, a friend and constituent of Antoine's, called Antoine around 1 a.m., and asked him to come down to the city jail. Witnesses said when Antoine came down to the jail trying to get information on why Williams was arrested, he got into an argument with Ladner.

Both Antoine and Williams are black, and Antoine said he is constantly getting complaints from blacks, claiming that Pass Christian police officers create problems for some of the city's minority residents. Weeks before, Antoine said he relayed his constituents' complaints to Police Chief John Dubuisson.

Antoine and Williams have hired Gulfport attorney William Martin to represent them. Martin is a Harrison County supervisor and once served as former president of the Gulfport Chapter of the National Associaiton for the Advancement of Colored People.

Last week, in a hearing before Municipal Court Judge Frank Wittmann and city prosecutor Skip Negrotta, both officials withdrew from the case because it is the Board of Aldermen who approve their salaries.

City attorney Malcolm Jones said a new hearing date would be set after Aldermen, probably at their April 6 meeting, appoint a judge and prosecutor. He is recommending Long Beach City Judge Mike Hester hear the case and Hancock County prosecutor John Genin to serve as prosecutor.

County invited to join anti-litter campaign

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County is being asked to join the national Keep America Beautiful campaign.

Barbara H. Dorr, executive director of Keep Mississippi Beautiful, came before supervisors Monday to ask them to become "part of a structured approach to handling the solid waste problem."

Dorr said there are currently 18 counties or cities in Mississippi participating in the anti-litter campaign, and that the state has monies available to help through the Economic and Community Development Department or the Department of Environmental Quality.

Once a county joins the program, Dorr said her organization has ways and programs to educate the public to the litter problem, and to teach them how to conduct litter-free public events.

Dorr suggested the county hire a fulltime coordinator, and work with the two cities to conduct the anti-litter campaign. She said the cost of joining the program is around $2,000 a year, plus certification fees.

Supervisors took the suggestion under advisement, and will have Jeff Loftus with the Gulf Regional Planning Commission look into grants that might be available.

WHVFD elects officers

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

The West Hancock Volunteer Fire Department held its annual election Monday night.

Sam Bailey was re-elected to serve his second year as fire chief.

Other officers are Elliot Dawsey, assistant chief; Lyn Bailey, secretary/treasurer; and Toney Vernaci, board officer.

Board members for March 1999-March 2000 are Mike Necaise, Tony Sciacca, Emile Mattox and Elsie Dawsey.

Chief Bailey said he was impressed with an increase in the number of Pearlington's residents who attended this year's election meeting.

"We feel we have moved the fire department out into the community with several new events this past year and have plans for several new community needs," Bailey added.

"We have projects that can involve just about anyone in the community. Sure, we need volunteers to fight fires, but other other projects need people who can sew, make a phone call, bake a cake, etc.

"We want West Hancock Volunteer Fire Department to be the hub of Pearlington. If you feel you may have a talent the fire department can use, please give me a call at 533-0050. We are open to all ideas and suggestions," Bailey said.

Hancock County will share in a total $3.8 million awarded this week to repair federal roads damaged by September's Hurricane George.

Sens. Trent Lott and Thad Cochran announced from Washington this week that the Department of Transportation funding was made available through the Department's Federal Highway Administration in response to the state's request for assistance.

Funds will be distributed among Hancock, Forest, George, Greene, Harrison, Jackson, Jones, Lamar, Pearl River, Stone and some affected cities.

Hancock County's share of the funds were not disclosed, but county road officials said the federal aid should pay the entire cost of repairs being made to Beach Boulevard from Bayou Caddy to Cedar Point. Those repairs are already underway.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I spoke to Tim Kellar on Monday, and he advised me that the teams are coming together for the annual Red Beans and Rice Cook-off scheduled for Monday, April 12. Kellar is this year's general chairman.

This is one of Hancock County' major fund raisers for the American Cancer Society, and it brings out stiff competition between the best bean cookers.

This will mark the 10th year for the cook-off.

Last Saturday I was told by an ever confident Chuck Breath, one of the defending champs of several cook-offs, that he will be cooking this year.

Chuck, who chaired the event last year, almost gave me the feeling that there were not any competitors around. You know, I really have to disagree with Chuck, because there just have to be some better bean cookers in the area.

I have spoken to other competitors who have told me that Chuck is going to meet his match and is only an ex-champ.

We will see on Monday, April 12.

Kellar said the cook-off still has room for several more teams, persons or groups. Those interested may contact team recruiting chair, Tanna Adam, with Century 21 in Diamondhead at 255-3550, or registration forms can be obtained at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's office, Bay St. Louis.

It was a great celebration in Kiln Wednesday with the dedication of the name change for that community's U.S. Post Office.

Special guest was United States Congressman Gene Taylor, who worked with our local officials in having the post office named in memory of the late Postmaster Ray J. Favre.

Postmaster Favre was at the helm of the Kiln Post Office for some 34 years, from a time when it was really only in a space that would be considered a capsule today.

Masters of ceremony were Billy Faye Lyons, president of the North Hancock Business & Professional Association, and Amy Gregory, executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

By the way, the Hancock High School ROTC did a spectacular job in the Raising of the Colors.

The addition of ROTC at Hancock and Bay High sure helps place more emphasis on patriotism and respect for our flag.

It is good to see our young men and women in their uniforms, and it seems the ROTC members stand above the crowd.

I am sure the residents of the Kiln area will reap benefits from their post office for many years to come.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Writer denies naming nationality in statement

To the Editor:

On March 11, your reporter, Mr. Ed Lepoma, in an article entitled Ohio Street Squatters under Scrutiny, quoted me as saying that one specific nationality would replace another if certain events occurred. I deny that I specifically named any nationality in my statement.

Mr. Lepoma had told me that certain individuals had expressed an intent to the Board of Supervisors that if a portion of Ohio Street would be closed, problems on the Wright Waterway would be solved.

I replied to Mr. Lepoma that closing that street would probably lead only to changing one nationality for another, but nothing more specific than that.

I stand by the further statement that he quoted that, "The canal is too small for large boats to dock up to the shoreline."

Reader says truckers should use right-hand lane of Hwy. 90

Dear Editor:

Anyone who drives east on Hwy. 90 toward Waveland knows how bad the right-hand lane is.

Most frequent drivers stay in the left lane, even the big loaded dump trucks that have ruined the right lane in the first place.

Sincerely,
Dory Thian

MSSDAR happy Bay joins GWashington 1999 Bicentennial

To the Editor:

How delighted I was to read that the City of Bay St. Louis followed through on my suggestion to become a "GWashington 1999 Bicentennial Community.

Having written to mayors all along the Coast, it is wonderful to learn some of our community leaders are listening.

The 1999 GWashington Community outreach is a very important undertaking by Historic Mount Vernon. The column itself points out, in the error regarding the birthdate of George Washington, that the very basic information about our first president is sadly lacking.

I do so hope this and other facts will be corrected and learned as the City of Bay St. Louis holds their Bicentennial events. Washington's role in the establishment of this nation is unparalelled in history.

To quote Daniel Webster, June 17, 1843: "America has furnished to the world the character of Washington. And if our American institutions had done nothing else, that alone would have entitled them to the respect of mankind."

As a member of the largest women's service organization in the country, I am devoting much of my time to promoting "From Sea to Shining Sea" this exciting historic program of the Mount Vernon Ladies Association. I will gladly help any community or organization with ideas, events, information, etc.

Mother says no one sits on the bench in bowling

Dear Editor:

Do you or your children (sons or daughters) ever wish there was a sport that you could play? If you've always wanted to try out for a school sport, like baseball, football, softball, tennis or even track or such, and you weren't or you're not physically able (i.e. asthma, etc.) you can bowl. Anyone can bowl, if they really want to learn.

Bowling is a sport for which there is no running, jumping or physical contact other than a "high five" or a pat on the back for knocking down those poins.

Hey, non-believers, the game of bowling is a sport. If you don't believe me, just ask any league blowler. Bowling is also a sport for which kids can receive patches, pins, trophies, and most importantly, college scholarships. There are many colleges with bowling programs. The U.S. even had an Olympic Bowling Team.

I personally know a young boy who started bowling three years ago. I am very proud of him. He keeps up with his practicing to improve his games. His mom had told me bowling is the only sport he can participate in due to his health conditions, which prevent him from participating in other sports.

Bowling is a team sport, but it is also an individual sport. Bowlers are recognized for team and individual accomplishments. And, when it comes to the weather conditions, such as cold wind, the rain, biting bugs or even the sun beating down on you with sweat pouring down your back, bowling is inside.

So, if you think you can't bowl, think again. Ask someone who knows the game to show you how. And, as in any sport, you must practice, practice, practice. Bowling is a sport!

In the sport of bowling you never "sit the bench."

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI HOUSE

By Representative J.P. Compretta

Agreement reached on tobacco settlement trust fund legislation

Members of the House of Representatives this week celebrated an agreement reached with their counterparts in the Senate on the creation of a trust fund from the state's settlement with the national tobacco industry.

The settlement was announced on Thursday after negotiations from the two chambers worked out differences in the trust fund legislation.

In the end, it was the House's plan to put all of the settlement's principal into a trust fund that was agreed upon.

After votes on the compromise in the full House and Senate, the bill will go to Gov. Kirk Fordice.

Mississippi is the first state to pass legislation designed to project funds gained in lawsuits against the tobacco industry.

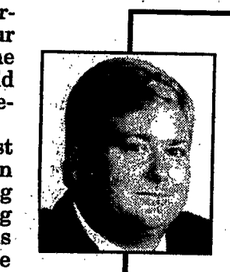

Mississippi will get about $4 billion over the next 25 years, pumping millions of dollars in interest funds into the state budget to be spent on health-care programs.

The bill protects the principal of the tobacco settlement funds, and allows investments similar to those authorized for the Public Employees Retirement System and a major college tuition program.

Revenue and interest payments will provide health care funds of $50 million in fiscal year 2000, starting July 1, increasing by 10 percent each year until 2004.

The state treasurer's office estimates that by 2004, the state will have a trust fund worth $1 billion and by the year 2007 some $100 million in interest alone will be available annually for spending on health programs.

All types of health programs could be funded from the interest, including children's health insurance, a trauma care system, nursing home programs, school nurses, veterans' health care and medicine for senior citizens.

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI SENATE

By State Senator Scottie Cuevas

Senate works through weekend on budget, OKs health trust fund

Mississippi has taken the lead nationally with the Legislature's passage of a perpetual health-care trust fund.

Expected to reach $1 billion in four years, the trust fund is the nation's first to be established from this state's landmark lawsuit against the tobacco industry.

Under HB 519, $50 million in investment earnings will be immediately available to fund new health programs. For the next four years, that amount will increase by 10 percent.

By the year 2007, annual earnings will exceed $100 million for the Legislature to appropriate for health programs. The plan prevents the Legislature from spending the trust fund's principal.

By mid-Saturday afternoon, conferees could not agree on details to the proposed teacher pay bill. Earlier in the session, the Senate approved an average $6,000 raise over the next two years with assistant teachers included in the proposal.

While the trust-fund decision helped the Legislature have a better understanding of how much money will be available to be appropriated for a wide range of programs, lack of an agreement on the teacher issue brought major budget negotiations temporarily to a halt.

Earlier in the week, budget experts reported an increase in the tax revenues expected to be collected during the current budget year, which ends June 30.

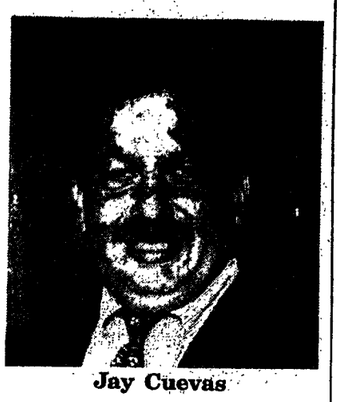

However, late Sunday afternoon, agreement was struck to booster teacher pay by 8 percent for one year, which set up a flurry of activity Monday to get funding bills approved. The raise, which will total about $160 million, will amount to about $2,600 a year.

Saturday and Sunday, the Senate and House worked in the face of the Monday deadline to adopt compromises called "conference reports" on appropriations and bond bills.

Monday also was the deadline for conference reports to be filed on general bills and constitutional amendments. The final scheduled day of the 1999 Legislative Session is Sunday, April 4.

Dozens of bills were signed into law last week. Among them were budget bills for various state agencies, many of which generate their own funds from user fees.

Pirates hold on for win over SSC

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Pass Christian Pirates pounded out 10 hits and overcame an early 7-2 deficit to hand the homestanding St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws a 15-11 defeat on Saturday, March 27 in Bay St. Louis.

SSC head coach Stace McRaney stated, "We did not pitch well today. Coming off two big district wins and jumping out to an early lead, we relaxed. However, I was pleased that we showed some guts coming back in the late innings and scoring some runs."

With the loss, the Rocks fall to 9-6 overall and 4-2 in the division.

The Pirates jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead in the first inning when Chad Watters connected with a two RBI single to leftfield.

Jamie Cuevas reached first on a walk and Brandon Lewis on an error by the leftfielder. When Lewis hit to the leftfielder, both Cuevas and Knight came around to score.

Adam Knight singled to leftfield while Brantley Ladner and Brandon Arcement both reached base on errors by the fielders.

Steven Knight doubled and drove in a run to make the score 7-2 before the inning ended.

In the top of the second, the Pirates came back to tie the score at 7-7.

The inning was sparked by Anthony Dewitt's three-run dinger that made the score 7-6.

In the top of the third inning, the Pirates scored when Wade Ladner singled home Chad Storey to make the score 8-7.

The score remained the same until the top of the fifth inning when Pass Christian added some insurance runs to their slim one-run lead.

SSC walked three of the first five batters and committed an error that allowed a run to score.

Brad Dewitt grounded out to the second baseman; however, he had an RBI in the process when Wade Ladner scored.

Chad Watters drove in two more runs when he singled to leftfield to make the score 12-7.

The Pirates added three more runs in the top of the sixth highlighted by Josh Ulrich's two-run roundtripper.

The Rocks added a run in the bottom of the sixth when Brandon Lewis doubled off the centerfield wall scoring Jamie Cuevas who reached on a walk. The score after six was 12-8.

In the bottom of the seventh, the Rocks threatened with a three-run blast over the left-centerfield wall by Steven Knight to make the score 15-11.

Adam Knight, Steven Knight, and Brandon Lewis all had a multiple hit game for the Rocks.

Adam Knight went three-for-four at the plate, while Steven Knight tallied a single and a three-run homer. Lewis recorded two doubles for SSC.

Throws no-hitter

St. Stanislaus eighth grader Jeremy Lewis, son of Jonathon Lewis of Bay St. Louis, pitched a no-hitter for the junior high baseball Rock-A-Chaws in their 10-0 win against Hancock.

Buffalo Soldiers to parade April 10

The fifth annual Commemoration of the Native Guards, African-American soldiers stationed at Ship Island during the Civil War, will be Saturday, April 10.

The Keepers of the Pledge, an organization formed in the spirit of the Million Man March, will present this celebration of the Black Soldier's fight for freedom.

This year's event will feature 20-30 Buffalo Soldier reenactors on horseback parading through downtown Gulfport to Jones Park.

The soldiers, members of the 10th Calvary re-enactors out of Atlanta and New Orleans consider themselves living history, and some of the most authentically uniformed Buffalo Soldiers in the South.

The soldiers will terminate the parade at Jones Park where they will participate in an authentic Indian Powwow at the Rice Pavilion. The Buffalo Soldiers will demonstrate horsemanship and drills.

Although the Buffalo Soldiers are better known for their participation in the old West, most were members of the Native Guard and other African-American troops who fought for their freedom during the Civil War.

Keepers of the Pledge will provide food and drinks for all, and JZ 94.5 radio will participate with a picnic in the park.

The parade starts at 2 p.m. at the Isiah Frederick's Community Center on Martin Luther King Boulevard. Participants and spectators will be able to ferry out to Ship Island to Fort Massachusetts where on April 9, 1863, the Native Guard launched their attack on Pascagoula which became the first time African-American Union troops proved themselves in battle.

"Bring your picnic baskets, ice chests and kids," said chairman Rip Daniels.

Texas Flat wildfire

Sunday morning, between 9 and 10, someone set a fire on Texas Flat Road six miles west of McLeod Park. The fire was in a pine plantation with trees about 30 to 40 feet tall and a thick brush cover beneath.

By the time the fire was reported to the Mississippi Forestry Commission dispatch office in Wigginws at 11, it had built up a good head of steam.

When the Forestry Commission crew arrived the fire was about 20 acres in size. A headfire with 15- to-20 foot flames was moving briskly along the road. The crew of Bennett and Jamieson positioned themselves out in front of the headfire and punched in a fireline to stop the progress of the fire.

"This fire had flames in the tops of the trees, and it was sending spot fires out in front of itself, making it very difficult and dangerous to stop," Bennett said.

Two hours later they had the worst portion of the fire contained and only the backing fire in the rear to control.

An additional crew, Larry Hoda and Buddy Cuevas, arrived to assist after suppressing a fire in Pearlington. The fire was completely contained at 4 p.m., four and one-half hours of dirty, hot work that contained the damage to 40 acres.

This is being investigated as an arson case. Anyone having information concerning this fire is asked to call the Forestry Commission Kiln office, 255-4885.

The Mississippi Forestry Association offers a $500 reward for infomation leading to an arrest and conviction of woods arson.

Some oyster reefs close

The Department of Marine Resources announces the closure of Areas II A, II B and II D Conditionally Approved Waters for oyster harvest on Tuesday, March 30 at 4 p.m.

The closures are a result of the Pearl River Gauge (Pearl River, La.) rising above 10 feet. This closure is in accordance with the established management plan for these waters.

Area II C Conditionally Approved Waters are also closed for oyster harvest due to a fuel spill associated with a boat sinking in the area.

Area II Approved Waters (open), which includes the public reefs known as Telegraph and Buoy reefs, the Shell Keys (referred to as Pelican), Fletcher's and Umbrella, and the southern portion of Pass Marianne reef.

Area III Conditionally Approved Waters (open), which includes the Long Beach Reef.

All other waters of the State of Mississippi shall remain closed until further notice. Sampling in these areas is continuing.

For information regarding open and closed areas for oyster harvest, call 228-374-5167 or 1-800-385-5902 (24 hours a day).

Negotiations underway to bring "Sky Parade" air show to Stennis

BY ED LEPOMA

If a contract can be worked out, Stennis International Airport will be the setting for a giant air show, which promoters claim will draw 300,000 visitors over the Labor Day weekend in the year 2000.

Details of negotiations taking place, and about to get underway with promoters of "Sky Parade," were revealed Tuesday during a recess meeting of Hancock County's Port and Harbor Commission. The Commission oversees operations at the airport and at Port Bienville, the county's industrial park.

Bill Stovall, the Port and Harbor deputy director, who manages and markets Stennis Airport, said a presentation was made recently by promoters to the Commission's Finance Committee. He said promoters were talking about bringing in the Blue Angels or possibly the Thunderbirds, which are precision air squads that put on shows throughout the country.

The Sky Parade is now being held at the Jackson Airport, but promoters said air traffic is increasing there, and they are looking for a new site.

Promoters are seeking a three-year contract, with the option to cancel within 60 days of the event in case there aren't enough paying sponsors to support the air show.

Commissioners gave permission for Stovall and P&H attorney Robert Genin to continue negotiations with the promoters, but a final contract would need full approval by the Commission and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

During debate over the event, some Commission members expressed concern over the pressure that would be put on local law enforcement agencies that would handle the increased traffic. Stovall said promoters have promised to provide on-site security and would work out something with the Sheriff's Department and possibly the Mississippi Highway Patrol to help defray costs.

Other Commissioners worried about being locked into a three-year contract, since there's no way to predict what kind of traffic would be coming into Stennis within the next three years.

And, Commission President Dave McDonald was adamant in his opposition to beer or any kind of alcoholic beverages being available at the airport during the air show.

"Under no conditions will I vote for any alcoholic beverages (being available) at the airport, McDonald said.

In other business, Commissioners:

- Approved a resolution to engage the accounting firm of Moore and Powell to complete the audit for the fiscal year, which ended Sept. 30, 1998;
- Accepted the low bid of $15,649 from Fricke's Land Improvement and authorized the firm to proceed with the earthwork needed for the storage track at the Port Bienville's rail car wash facility.
- Authorized another $4,900 be spent with Garver Engineering, which is designing the proposed expansion of the car wash facility;
- Passed a resolution providing a 10-year tax exemption for the second phase of the expansion of GE Plastic's product line;
- Approved payment of $110,136 to Polychemie, representing the port's portion of running a new outfall line from Polychemie's plant to the Pearl River.

Unemployment rates down

The state's unemployment rate dropped in February behind job growth in several sectors of the workforce, the Mississippi Employment Security Commission (MESC) announced.

The rate dropped to 4.4 percent for February from a January rate of 5.8 percent as job gains were posted in the construction, trade, education and services industries.

Wholesale and retail trade added 2,300 jobs for the month while 1,400 more people were working in the services industries. State and local education added 1,200 jobs during the month while construction saw 500 jobs added.

Statewide 1,218,100 Mississippians were employed in February.

The state's unemployment rate of 4.4 percent was very near the national rate of 4.7 percent for February.

Most counties across the state showed improvements in their rates, according to MESC Executive Director Thomas E. Lord. "Thirty-three counties matched or bettered the statewide rate of 4.4 percent," Lord said.

Lafayette County again had the state's lowest rate at 1.2 percent followed by Rankin County at 1.7 percent and DeSoto County at 2.1 percent.

At the other end of the rankings, Sharkey County recorded the state's highest rate at 23.3 percent. Even with the highest rate, Sharkey's numbers were down from last month when the rate was 29.7 percent.

Lord said that spring usually brings further improvements in the labor force conditions.

Russians tour Magic

Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Director of Food and Beverage, Chef Glenn Adams, left, gave a tour of the casino's dining facilities to visiting Russian Rotarians recently. The group was sponsored by the Slidell Rotary Club and consisted of cafe and restaurant owners from Russia who were taking educational, "back-of-house" tours of area food businesses.

Mistakes open flood gates in loss

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw baseball team was in charge of the game against division leading Picayune on Monday, March 29 going into the fourth inning.

The Rocks held on to a slim 1-0 lead before committing two mistakes which opened the flood gates for the Tide to wash out the Rocks 8-1.

SSC head coach Stace McRaney stated, "We led off the game with a homerun. Then, we made a couple of mistakes that hurt us."

The score remained 1-0 until the top of the fourth inning when Justin Dunhurst smashed a two-run dinger to make the score 2-1. It was all the Tide needed.

Later in the same inning, Bubba Dobson smacked a two-run triple for the Tide to make the score 4-1.

Picayune added another run in the top of the fifth when a Tide baserunner scored on a wild pitch.

Justin Woods walked to lead Picayune off in the sixth inning and Josh Carter reached base on an error by the Rock outfield. On the error, Woods scored for Tide to make the score 6-1.

Justin Clement reached on an error to the Rock third baseman which sent two more runs home to make the score 8-1.

The Rocks got a baserunner in the bottom of the seventh when Jeremy Edwards singled to leftfield. However, the Rocks couldn't bat him around and the game ended at 8-1.

With the loss, the Rocks fall to 9-6-1 on the season and 4-3 in the division.

Successful duo

Pearl River Community College's Jeff Rose, front, of Bay St. Louis, and Matt Nunnally, rear, of Oak Grove are 4-4 for Coach Camille Soulier's team this season. Nunnally is 2-4 thus far in men's singles play, while Rose isf 5-2. PRCC's men's team is 5-4 overall in Soulier's second season as coach of PRCC's men's and women's teams. ## Sellier remains perfect at Sun Coast

Ben Stephens started from the front row and led to the midway point before getting together with another car which ended his hopes to claim the win in the IMCA feature at Sun Coast Speedway in Pass Christian.

Kalif Sellier, who has won this season's first two feature races, moved to the lead from his third-row starting position.

Sellier and brother Nick had both won earlier heat races before contending for the feature win.

Michael Blount and Robert Casada battled for the second spot with Casada coming out on top as the checkers flew. Ron Tubbs also managed to move past Blount to finish in the third spot. Blount was able to hold off Donald Parker to salvage a fourth place finish.

Randy Eaton won his first Pro Stock feature of the season as he went on a flag-to-flag run from his pole starting spot. Randy Deshamp got together with heat race winner Jeremy Broadus, causing both cars to get into the front wall, which ended their competition for the night.

Steve Pate Sr. picked up the second spot, although he was unable to take the lead from Eaton, it was his best finish of the young season. David Barber held off Jeremy Eaton and Bary Black to finish in the third spot.

Keith Miller was fast qualifier in the late Model division and shared the front row with Rickey Hankins, the man who has been unbeatable on the Sun Coast dirt oval.

It was once again Hankins taking the lead as they came out of turn two and cruising to another easy win.

Miller was able to take a comfortable second over George Paul and Bubba Schonewitz as they raced to the finish line. Miller has been Hankins' main competition the past two seasons, but still does not have a win to show for his efforts. Heat race winner Ray Holifield rounded out the top five.

Lonnie Scarbrough, returning to racing after an extended layoff, showed he can still get around the clay oval as he went on a green to checkers outing for the Street Stock feature win.

Heat race winner Rodney Barber stayed in hot pursuit, but was unable to make a pass on Scarbrough.

Plans — Neighbor objects to proposed dance studio next door

and he did not want more businesses on Longfellow.

Mangerchine agreed to several stipulations tacked on by the Planning Commisison. The studio must be set back at least 75 feet from the property line. It cannot conduct business after 9 p.m., and the studio must be buffered from adjoining residences on the west side by a six-foot-high fence with vegetation.

Supervisors, at first, overturned the Planning Commission's recommendations, but after an appeal from Willie Gavney, the county's chief zoning enforcement officer, rescinded their motion and ordered a new hearing on the matter for March 1.

That March 1 hearing and the motion that came out of it brought Mangerchine and Wilkinson together again.

When supervisors voted 3-2 to allow the special exception, Wilkinson announced he planned to appeal their decision to Circuit Court.

But, Wilkinson came back before supervisors last Thursday to contend he didn't have to file a costly court appeal, "If District 3 Supervisor Lisa Cowand "stands by her motion."

In the March 1 hearing, Cowand, District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman and District 1 Supervisor Lyonie "Jeep" Ladner approved the special exception. In the meeting, Mangerchine made another concession--that her building would be brick veneer on the outside.

But, Wilkinson had a copy of the transcript, which he said prevents Mangerchine from building a dance studio unless she also begins construction on her house.

The Echo obtained a copy of the transcript of the March 1 meeting, and in it, Cowand, who seconded Pullman's motion to approve in order to discuss it further, questioned Mangerchine. The transcript reads:

Mangerchine: "No."

"Cowand: "That needs to be stipulated, as well. If she doesn't have a home, then there's no studio. Well, obviously because there would be a zoning change. But, I don't want to do the zoning change and then never have a home put there either."

Pullman: "I don't mind that. That can be put in there. Are you agreeing to that, Ma'am?

Mangerchine. "Yes."

Mangerachine told supervisors that it would be costly to build the dance studio and house simultaneously, and she didn't think she could get financing.

She said her plans were to build the dance studio, and hopefully the revenue would provide the means to building a house.

Mangerchine reminded supervisors that she has successfully operated a dance studio in Slidell, and her students have won several competitions.

"This is no small-time, Mickey Mouse operation," said Mangerchine. She said she had already signed a purchase agreement with the landowners "and they are getting restless."

After a debate of almost an hour Cowand and the two othere supervisors stood by their motion, which prevents Mangerchine from building the studio unless she also begins construction on her house.

He told Mangerchine she has 10 days to appeal the decision to the Circuit Court.

Another option is for her to let the property revert back to its "R-2 zoning."

Under the county ordinance, Mangerchine could build her house on the lot and come back before the Planning Commission to get conditional use that would allow her to operate a dance studio out of her home.

Waveland parking lot scene of assault of youth

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Waveland Police received a call at approximately 10:20 p.m. Friday, reporting an assault in the Choctaw Plaza parking lot, Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell reports.

Chief Varnell in a press release said, "Upon officers' arrival, they found a white male 16 years of age lying unconscious on the ground. Waveland Fire Rescue and American Medical Response Ambulance Service were immediately dispatched to the scene.

"Upon further investigation by the responding officers, witnesses stated that a group of six to seven black males had assaulted the victim by punching and kicking. Witnesses stated that the black males left in a tan-colored Oldsmobile.

"The victim was taken to Hancock Medical Center, treated and transferred to the University Medical Center in Jackson for treatment of a head injury. The victim was released from University Medical Center this week.

"At approximately 4 a.m. on Saturday morning, officers were checking on a broken-down vehicle around the Old Spanish Trail and Highway 90. The vehicle fit the description of the vehicle in the above incident. Subjects in the vehicle admitted to having an altercation in the parking lot earlier.

"Kelvin Renaldo Redmond, 17, of Bay St. Louis was arrested along with a 15-year-old juvenile from Bay St. Louis for assault. Redmond is being treated as an adult and was booked in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility under a $5,000 bond. The juvenile was booked and released to his mother.

Redmond is scheduled for an initial appearance in Waveland Municipal Court April 15 at 1 p.m. The juvenile is scheduled to appear in Youth Court on April 6.

"The case is still under investigation, and more arrests are expected. Arresting officer was David Allen, and Investigator Brett Ladner is in charge of the case."
